During the past year, our team has been hard at work building a new website. Our commitment to our horses and the community has always been a lynchpin of our mission, and during this process we built this site with you—our community—in mind.

Thank you to everyone who continues to support horses like Navi by enabling them to receive transformational care and a new beginning. To find out how you can play a part in the inspiring transformations of our horses, visit defhr.org/available-horses/

During the past year, 30 of our horses were lacking water and adequate forage and required immediate veterinary care. These four senior horses in distress at the request of animal welfare authorities. On scene, the four senior horses were examined by a veterinarian and found to be very dehydrated and in various stages of emaciation. Each had a guarded prognosis and were unable to eat properly. DEFHR deployed its services in Maryland to remove and transport four senior horses in distress at the request of animal welfare authorities. On March 29, 2022, DEFHR deployed its services in Maryland to remove and transport four senior horses in distress at the request of animal welfare authorities. On March 29, 2022. She is suffering from severe starvation among other issues. Though her age and declining condition are major concerns, she is ready to fight for her life – and so are we.

DEFHR Works With Maryland and West Virginia Law Enforcement To Provide Rescue and Rehabilitation Services to Eight Horses in Critical Condition

On March 21, 2022, from West Virginia. As a result, DEFHR staff and volunteers are currently managing eight equines in critical condition in addition to the 72 already in the organization's care—30 of which are in a holding pattern due to forthcoming court proceedings, and thus not yet able to enter training and subsequently be offered for adoption.

These four horses arrived on the heels of four others that arrived during the week of March 29. She is now thriving under the care of DEFHR staff and volunteers and in the final phase of her rehabilitation program. Navi was recently introduced to our mare herd and is happily making new friends—both horse and human—as she learns to enjoy life.

Noel Navidad “Navi” arrived at DEFHR on Christmas Eve of 2021 and has made an incredible transformation in her four months with us. She is now thriving under the care of DEFHR staff and volunteers and in the final phase of her rehabilitation program. Navi was recently introduced to our mare herd and is happily making new friends—both horse and human—as she learns to enjoy life.
